

Knightly Adventures Abroad

Monica Jackson

Morocco

Summer 2017

I am majoring in Political Science with minors in Peace Studies & Marketing Communications

My best memory in Morocco was traveling to the Sahara Desert and sleeping under the stars in the sand.

I chose to study with ISA because of the courses that were offered and the opportunity to study in a culture that was drastically different from America.

I lived in an apartment complex with five other girls. We had a great house mom who cooked great food for us.

You will NOT regret studying abroad!

This experience enriched my Bellarmine educational experience by taking the classroom to application.

If I could do it over, I would travel more!

It is a huge challenge to live in a country with both a language barrier and cultural barrier but the understanding you have is worth the struggle.
