

Spring 2024 Enrichment Courses

EVENING WITH ROY: POLITICAL COURAGE

This semester, we are going to take a unique approach and consider the very essential, but too-often overlooked, role of political courage in decision making. We will consider great historical examples going back to the founding fathers of our country, through the centuries until the present day. We will look at both domestic and international leaders. Why don't we see more political courage in today's world?

This is the penultimate course in our series of foreign policy courses. Roy is retiring these courses after the Fall 2024 semester.
