

MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

The book you are holding celebrates the scholarship, service and excellence of our faculty at Bellarmine University.

As president, I am profoundly grateful for the time and energy they devote to preparing excellent classroom instruction and to building personal connections with their students. But I am also very much aware that our faculty members devote considerable time and energy to pursuits beyond the classroom – conducting significant research, presenting the results of that research at scholarly conferences, publishing in journals and books and on websites, leading study-abroad courses and service-learning trips or creating artistic expressions, for example.

These and other accomplishments have helped to elevate Bellarmine University to its status as the premier Catholic university in the South and the leading private institution in the Commonwealth and region. We are proud to showcase them in this publication, which is organized around these goals of Bellarmine's Strategic Plan:

- Celebrate our Catholic identity in the inclusive Merton spirit as the foundation of our commitment to student fulfillment, global consciousness and environmental sustainability;
- Establish and sustain a climate of excellence throughout the university;
- Integrate an international focus and sensibility into all curricular and co-curricular programs; and
- Enhance our reputation, expand our market and dramatically grow our enrollment.

The achievements listed here represent work completed from fall 2013 through summer 2014. They vividly illustrate the way in which Bellarmine's excellent faculty bring our mission to life, both by educating talented, diverse students of many faiths, ages, nations, and cultures, and, through their scholarship and service, by benefiting the public interest, helping to create the future, and improving the human condition.

Please join me in congratulating and thanking our faculty for the tremendous successes described in these pages.

In veritatis amore,

Dr. Joseph J. McGowan

ENHANCING OUR REPUTATION

Art Professor Caren Cunningham, shown right in Bellarmine's studio, exhibited her own sculptures at a number of venues throughout Metro Louisville and sold one to a private collector.

BELLARMINE COLLEGE

Art Department

Professor Caren Cunningham had three limestone sculptures juried into the 6th Annual Sculpture in the Dell exhibition at Yew Dell Botanical Gardens, Crestwood, Ky. One sculpture was sold to a private collector.

Professor Cunningham was one of the contributing artists to "Enid: Generations of Women Sculptors" at the Transylvania University Morlan Gallery in March 2014. The exhibit featured works by Enid, a Louisvillebased collective of female sculptors named for pioneering Louisville sculptor Enid Yandell.

Professor Cunningham was interviewed for a February 2014 article in the Lexington Herald-Leader about the Kentucky Collective of Female Sculptors Show.

Professor Cunningham displayed her work at a number of venues throughout the year including four stone sculptures at Hidden Hill in Utica, Ind., and a sculptural bike rack and three permanent outdoor stone sculptures at Glassworks in Louisville.

Professor Cunningham was commissioned to paint a 12-by-80-foot mural of trees and shrubs for Cunningham Overhead Door.

Ms. Laura Hartford, associate professor and chair, had an exhibition entitled "Second Life," curated by Joey Yates, at the Kentucky Museum of Art and Craft in June 2014. Ms. Hartford held an exhibition entitled "Salt" in the McGrath Gallery at Bellarmine University.

Ms. Hartford had exhibits in the Louisville Photo Biennial in October 2013.

Ms. Hartford was selected as an Artist-in-Residence at Maine's Acadia National Park Aug. 18-30, 2014.

Biology Department

Dr. Mary Huff, assistant dean of the College of Arts and Sciences and associate professor of Biology, and Dr. Amanda Krzysiak, assistant professor of Chemistry, hosted 48 AP Biology students from Seneca High School on Bellarmine's campus for a tour of the college, the opportunity to visit a college class, and the chance to perform a college-level laboratory experiment.

Dr. Paul Kiser, assistant professor of Biology, was awarded a $2,500 grant by the Kentucky Agency for Substance Abuse Policy, Region 6 Board of Directors, for an air-quality analysis study of hookah bars in Louisville.

Dr. Kiser gave an expert comment for a report by The Courier-Journal regarding the new tobacco-free policy for JCPS schools and school functions.

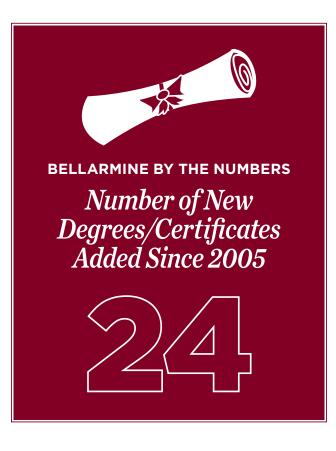

Dr. David Robinson, professor of Biology, spearheaded The Ambrosia Project for a seventh year, publishing another 114 genes in the GenBank database. The project is a collaboration by students in each year's Plant Diversity course (BIOL 220) to determine the identity of all the genes expressed in Ragweed pollen. Several genes have already been found that encode the proteins that cause hay fever. The project also involves a collaboration with faculty and students at Emory and Henry College in Virginia.

Chemistry and Physics Department

The ATLAS experiment at CERN, to which Bellarmine University contributed, was cited in the Nobel Prize for the discovery of the Higgs Boson. Bellarmine is the only university in Kentucky to be involved in this project. Dr. Akhtar Mahmood, professor of Physics, heads up the contributing research at Bellarmine.

English Department

Mr. John James, adjunct lecturer of English, won the 2014 CutBank Annual Chapbook Prize for his manuscript, Chthonic. Mr. James received a $1,000 cash award.

Dr. Annette Powell, associate professor of English, was elected chair of the National Council of Teachers of English (NCTE) Scholars for the Dream Selection Committee.

History and Political Science Department

Dr. Eric Roorda, professor of History, was awarded a grant of $165,000 by the National Endowment for the Humanities to direct a 2014 Summer Institute for college professors. This was his fourth and largest NEH Summer Institute award.

Dr. Roorda was interviewed by WHAS in November 2013 as part of a feature on the 50th anniversary of President John F. Kennedy's assassination.

Mathematics Department

Dr. Mike Bankhead, associate professor of Mathematics, serves as a board member and database administrator for the Louisville Regional Science Fair.

Dr. Anne Raymond, professor of Mathematics, received the Wilson Wyatt Award for Excellence in Scholarship and Teaching at Bellarmine in May 2014.

Music Department

Dr. S. Timothy Glasscock, assistant professor of Music, was elected to the Board of Directors of StageOne Children's Theatre.

Philosophy Department

Dr. David Mosley, professor of Philosophy, was elected president of the Society for the Philosophical Study of Education (SPSE) and in March 2015 will present a paper titled "Singing the (Metaphysical) Blues" at the Society's annual meeting.

Dr. Mosley was accepted in 2014 as a participant in the National Endowment for the Humanities' Summer Institute, World War I and the Arts, at the University of Cincinnati.

Psychology Department

Dr. Pam Cartor, associate professor and chair of Psychology, has begun her term as president of the Kentucky Psychological Association.

Dr. Ann Jirkovsky, assistant professor of Psychology, worked with the Day Spring Services Committee to develop a tool to assess the vulnerability of current residents and their family members and determine their level of risk and need for services.

An article on meat and masculinity by Dr. Hank Rothgerber, associate professor of Psychology, was chosen as the spotlight article in Psychology of Men and Masculinity.

Dr. Tom Wilson, associate professor of Psychology, served as moderator for behavioral science student paper sessions at the National Conference on Undergraduate Research at the University of Kentucky in Lexington.

Sociology Department

Dr. Matisa Wilbon, associate professor of Sociology and Brown Scholars director, received the Bethune/ Height Achiever award for those who exemplify the legacies of Dr. Mary McLeod Bethune and Dr. Dorothy Height. Drs. Bethune and Height were prominent civil rights leaders and proponents of education and the empowerment of women. The program is sponsored by the historic National Council of Negro Women, where Dr. Height served as National NCNW president/chairwoman for more than 50 years.

Dr. Wilbon obtained a $25,000, two-year grant from the Office of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention (OJJDP) to study the role of parental characteristics, parental attitudes, and parent engagement as moderators of mentoring program outcomes. This grant is in collaboration with the Pacific Institute for Research and Evaluation (PIRE) team and Big Brothers/Big Sisters of Kentuckiana.

Dr. Wilbon and Mr. Patrick Englert, assistant dean of students, received a $7,000 "Bringing Theory to Practice" grant from the American Association of College and Universities to support a Summer Symposium program for the Brown Leadership Community.

Dr. Wilbon was invited to join the Leadership Louisville Bingham Fellows Class of 2014. As a Bingham Fellow, she will join others focusing on the topic "Investing in West Louisville's Path to Prosperity." The group will identify and build on the strengths in the western part of Louisville and serve as catalysts to improve the area. The invitation follows Dr. Wilbon's selection from a large pool of applicants to participate as a member of the Leadership Louisville class of 2013.

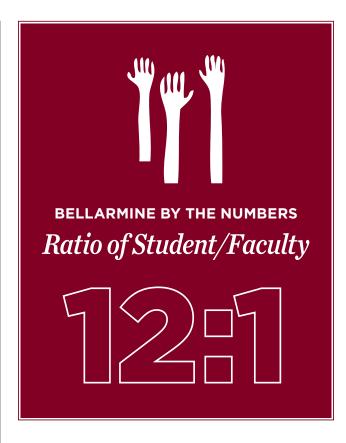

Dr. Wilbon was invited by the mayor's office to cochair a faith-based workgroup focused on reducing violence in Louisville. The workgroup is one of several established as a result of the Mayor's Safe and Healthy Communities Initiative.

Dr. Wilbon was elected to the Board of Directors of the Kentucky Humanities Council.

Dr. Wilbon served on the WAVE-3 Editorial Board in 2013.

Theology Department

SCHOOL OF COMMUNICATION

Dr. Shawn Apostel's "Prezi Design Strategies" was nominated by Prezi users and selected by Prezi to be the Best Educational Prezi in 2013. A reflection on the Prezi was published in Kairos: A Journal of Rhetoric, Technology, and Pedagogy.

Dr. Apostel, assistant professor, chaired "A Space Odyssey: The Effect of New Learning Environments on Students and Teachers" at the South Atlantic Modern Language Association conference in Atlanta.

Dr. Apostel chaired the session "Futures for Composition and Communication: Opening Research and Teaching to Issues of E-Waste and E-Justice" at the Conference on College Composition and Communication in Indianapolis.

Dr. Apostel was selected to serve as the web editor for the National Association for Communication Center's official website, which he redesigned to work on mobile devices (commcenters.org).

Dr. Gail Henson, professor, was featured in the fall newsletter for the Association for Education in Journalism and Mass Communication Small Programs Interest Group and served as vice chair of the division for 2013-14.

Dr. Henson reviewed articles for the Media Ethics, Religion in Media, Visual Communication, and Science and Environmental Communications divisions for the Association for Education in Journalism and Mass Communication Association.

Dr. Henson has become chair of Faculty Affairs and coordinator for the Senior Seminar (IDC 401) program. She was part of the original team that crafted the IDC program in 1997.

Dr. Lara Needham, dean of the School of Communication, was recognized at Business First's annual Forty Under 40 luncheon. Each year, this event recognizes 40 up-and-coming young leaders who already are making a difference in the Louisville community, both through their work and volunteer efforts.

Dr. Needham and the School of Communication hosted a well-attended panel discussion, "News and the Digital Age" on Nov. 20, 2013, in Frazier Hall. Panelists were Neil Budde (Courier-Journal), Gabe Bullard (WFPL), Barry Fulmer (WDRB) and Carol Timmons (Business First).

On March 15, Dr. Needham received a Young Alumni Achievement award from her alma mater, Hanover College. She also participated in SAND, the Student and Alumni Networking Day, and she was a featured panelist for What Employers Want.

Dr. Needham was an event coordinator and co-sponsor on behalf of Bellarmine University for a March 21, 2014, fundraising event, The Search for the Next Big Thing. This multi-part event provided small businesses and innovators direct interaction with investors and high profile entrepreneurs. Todd Wagner, entrepreneur, philanthropist and billionaire, offered $10,000 prize to the top innovator.

Dr. Moira O'Keeffe, assistant professor, was awarded a Fulbright for spring 2015 and will spend the semester at European Humanities University in Vilnius, Lithuania, where she will teach Visual Ethnography and Science Communication. She will also be working on a research project about filmmaker Jonas Mekas.

Department Chair Winnie Spitza has been appointed to a three-year term as a member of the Board of Trustees for Summit Academy, an independent nonprofit school that has been educating children with learning differences since 1992. Summit Academy provides a nurturing educational environment for grades K-8 in which each child's academic achievement comes to reflect his or her learning potential.

Professor Spitza planned, prepared and coordinated the ninth annual Speak Up Bellarmine Speech Competition on Feb. 11, 2014, in Hilary's. Six student speakers competed before more than 100 students, faculty and staff. On April 24, Professor Spitza coordinated with the University of Louisville and Jefferson Community & Technical College in presenting the fifth annual Speak Up Louisville speech competition, which she co-founded. She also served as chair of a panel discussion about Speak Up Louisville at the 83rd annual Southern States Communication Association convention on April 12.

Ms. Shain manages public relations and community relations for the organization. The Honor Flight Bluegrass Chapter is a Louisvillebased, all-volunteer, non-profit organization created to honor America's veterans for their sacrifices. The chapter flies veterans to Washington, D.C, to visit their respective memorials. Top priority is given to senior veterans and those who are terminally ill. Ms. Shain was appointed to the Honor Flight Bluegrass board of directors in summer 2014.

Ms. Shain was appointed to a second term as the treasurer for the Association for Women in Sports Media (AWSM), a nonprofit founded in 1987 as a support network and advocacy group for women who work in sports writing, editing, broadcast and production, and public and media relations. AWSM has more than 600 members, both women and men, and includes professionals in the industry and students aspiring to sports media careers.

Mr. Jim Wagoner was selected by Strathmore's Who's Who as a life member for his achievements in the legal profession. He also received recognition from LexisNexis/ Martindale – Hubbell for 25 years of recognition (1988-2013) for Very High Peer Rating in Legal Ability and Ethical Standards.

Bellarmine's Mock Trial Team, for which Mr. Wagoner serves as head coach, was recognized in the Louisville Bar Association August edition of Bar Briefs for their work at the Summer Law Institute, which is a summer law camp for 32 high school students from Jefferson and surrounding counties. This program is sponsored annually by the LBA, the U of L Law School and Bellarmine University.

SCHOOL OF ENVIRONMENTAL STUDIES

Dr. Kate Bulinski, associate professor, Geosciences, took a group of honors students to Washington, D.C., in March 2014; the trip included a behind-the-scenes tour of the Smithsonian Natural History Museum.

Dr. Bulinski and a colleague led the Family Paleontology Camp at the Falls of the Ohio State Park in July. This camp draws young people nationally to participate in field studies of paleontology with their family members.

Dr. Martha Carlson Mazur, assistant professor, and colleagues have been working with the Chickasaw Federation, the neighborhood association for the Chickasaw neighborhood of Louisville, since May 2014 to help develop and write their Cornerstone 2020 Neighborhood Plan. Dr. Carlson Mazur has engaged students in her ENVS 330: Sustainable Development class in a service-learning capacity to assist with the neighborhood planning as well.

Dr. Randy Strobo, adjunct faculty member, was appointed as legislative agent for the Kentucky Conservation Committee. In this role, he communicates with members of the Kentucky Legislature on environmental issues and keeps KCC members informed about the progress of environmentally relevant bills as they move through the House and Senate.

SUSTAINING A CLIMATE OF EXCELLENCE

Dr. Lee Remington Williams, assistant professor of Political Science, presented a paper at the annual meeting of the Kentucky Political Science Association in Lexington, Ky.

BELLARMINE COLLEGE PRESENTATIONS

Biology Department

Dr. David Porta, professor of Biology, presented three workshops on Biomechanics and Injury Reconstruction at the Traffic Safety Officers Conference, South Carolina Criminal Justice Academy.

Dr. Porta gave lectures and cadaver workshops for the Allergan Corporation in Milwaukee. The purpose was to give physicians BOTOX injection training for the relief of cervical dystonia and upper-limb spasticity.

Dr. Porta gave an oral presentation for a symposium titled "Carving Your Niche" at the American Association of Clinical Anatomists in Denver, Colo. He was also installed as the Meeting Manager for the 2014 AACA conference in Orlando.

Dr. David Robinson, professor of Biology, presented a poster entitled "Effect of reishi mushroom (Ganoderma lucidum) extracts on the growth of male and female lung cancer cells" at the annual meeting of the Midwestern Section of the American Society of Plant Biologists at Ohio State University in Columbus, Ohio. The work was co-authored by four Bellarmine graduates and was done in collaboration with Dr. Mary Huff, associate professor of Biology.

Dr. Robinson presented a poster entitled "Chemopreventative influence of Ganoderma lucidum extracts on male and female lung cancer cells" at the 99th annual meeting of the Kentucky Academy of Science at Morehead State University in Morehead, Ky. This work was done in collaboration with Dr. Mary Huff, associate professor of Biology.

Chemistry and Physics Department

Dr. Wendy Burns, assistant professor of Chemistry, gave an oral presentation entitled "Innovative laboratory experiments for upper division inorganic chemistry" at the 246th American Chemical Society National Meeting and Exposition, Indianapolis, Ind.

Dr. Pat Holt, professor of Chemistry, Dr. Shawn Apostel, assistant professor of Communication, and Mr. Eric Satterly, vice provost for Information Technology, led a panel discussion entitled "IPads from Four Perspectives: Teaching and Learning in the University" at the 2013 Kentucky Innovations Conference: Higher Education in the 21st Century at the University of Kentucky in Lexington.

ANNSLEY FRAZIER THORNTON SCHOOL OF EDUCATION PUBLICATIONS

A chapter proposal, "Classroom Assessment Standards-Based Grading in Pre-Service Education" by Dr. Corrie Block, assistant professor, was accepted for publication in The Classroom Assessment Standards (Barbara Howard, Don Klinger & Marco A. Munoz, editors), a book about the new standards by the Joint Committee on Standards for Educational Evaluation.

Dr. Sarah Bush, assistant professor, was the lead author of an article titled "Prerequisite Algebra Skills and Associated Misconceptions of Middle Grade Students: A Review" in The Journal of Mathematical Behavior.

Dr. Bush was a co-author on a paper titled "Systematic Interventions: Teaching Ratios" published in the February 2014 issue of Mathematics Teaching in the Middle School.

Dr. Bush was the lead author of three invited online book chapters, "Hunger Games: What Are the Chances?" "What's on Your Plate? Thinking Proportionally," and "Pay now, or Pay Later?" – all adapted from articles in Mathematics Teaching in the Middle School – in Real World Math, M. Coffey & H. Sherard (Eds.).

Dr. Kristin Cook, assistant professor, published "What's the Skinny? Evaluating the Effects of Instituting a 'Fat Tax' in America" in the Journal of Education and Health.

Dr. Cook published a manuscript entitled, "Seeking to Improve Young African-American Girls' Attitudes Toward Science: A Participatory Action Research Study," in The Elementary School Journal.

Dr. Elizabeth Dinkins, assistant professor, had the manuscript, "Middle School Students' Perspectives of and Responses to Strategic Revision Instruction," accepted for publication in the Middle Grades Research Journal.

Drs. David Paige, chair, Theresa Magpuri-Lavell, assistant professor, and Grant Smith, assistant professor, had an article accepted in the Journal of Literacy Research: "Interpreting the Relationships among Prosody, Automaticity, Word Accuracy and Silent Reading Comprehension in Secondary Students."

Dr. Paige published the chapter "Whole-Class Choral Reading" in the book From Fluency to Comprehension (Timothy Rasinski and Nancy Padak, eds).

Dr. Kevin Thomas, associate professor, and a colleague published "Cell Phones in the Classroom: Pre-service Teachers' Perspectives" in the Journal of Digital Learning in Teacher Education and "Cell Phones in the Classroom: Teachers' Perspectives of Inclusion, Benefits, and Barriers" in the journal Computers in the Schools. Dr. Thomas also published "Teacher Perceptions of Using Mobile Phones in the Classroom: Age Matters!" in Computers & Education.

Dr. Dottie Willis, assistant professor, co-edited Rag Rug III, an anthology published in honor of Dr. Marjorie Kaiser that showcases the work of Louisville Writing Project teachers for the past 31 years.

Dr. Willis published an article, "Collaborating to Meet Challenges of Co-Teaching Common Core Standards," in the November issue of the Kentucky Journal of Excellence in College Teaching and Learning.

SCHOOL OF COMMUNICATION PUBLICATIONS

Dr. Kyle Barnett, associate professor, had a chapter, "Record Men: Talent Scouts in the U.S. Recording Industry, 1920-1935," published in Making Media Work: Cultures of Management in the Entertainment Industries (Derek Kompare, Avi Santo, & Derek Johnson, eds., NYU Press, August 2014).

Dr. Moira O'Keeffe, assistant professor, published "Science Fiction and the Big Questions" in the July-August 2013 Journal of the British Interplanetary Society.

Dr. O'Keeffe's article "Lieutenant Uhura and the Drench Hypothesis: Diversity and the Representation of STEM Careers" was published in the International Journal of Gender, Science and Technology.

SCHOOL OF ENVIRONMENTAL STUDIES PUBLICATIONS

Dr. Martha Carlson Mazur, assistant professor, along with colleagues at the U.S. Geological Survey, published a research article in the journal Aquatic Invasions titled: "Assessment of Suitable Habitat for Phragmites australis (Common Reed) in the Great Lakes Coastal Zone." They investigated landscape factors controlling the distribution of the invasive wetland plant, highlighted vulnerable areas and provided implications for predicted changes in climate. These scientific results are being used by natural resource managers for early detection and response to this aggressive species.

Dr. Jay Gatrell, vice provost, collaborated on the article "Rural Food Accessibility: An Analysis of Travel Impedance and the Risk of Potential Grocery Closures" in the journal Applied Geography.

CELEBRATING OUR CATHOLIC IDENTITY IN THE INCLUSIVE MERTON SPIRIT

Dr. Greg Hillis, associate professor of Theology, interviewed Archbishop Joseph Kurtz for a story in the Winter 2014 issue of Bellarmine Magazine.

BELLARMINE COLLEGE

Mr. Bob Pfaadt, professor of History, completed his work entitled "First Sixty Years of Trinity High School," available on the Trinity High School website.

Dr. S. Timothy Glasscock, assistant professor of Music, presented a lecture clinic to the National Pastoral Musicians Louisville Region Conference entitled "Can My Choir Do That; Music of Varied Sources and Historical Periods that You May Not Know Your Choir Can Do." Dr. Glasscock presented a compilation of sacred repertoire from the Renaissance period to the present, highlighting Catholic composers and styles such as chant, motet, spiritual, folk song, Latin language, Spanish language and Hebrew traditional. These works were presented during the lecture and performed by the chapter members present. Dr. Glasscock was assisted by Mrs. Meme Tunnell, who served as pianist, and Mr. Richard Burchard, who provided his personal choral compositions for the event.

Mrs. Tunnell, assistant professor of Music, was a guest artist for the Loretto Motherhouse in Nerinx, Ky., and with the Louisville Vocal Project.

Mrs. Tunnell participated in the performance of Britten St. Nicholas at Second Presbyterian Church in Louisville.

Dr. Joseph Flipper, assistant professor of Theology, served as a panel moderator for "Shifting the Margins: Global Christianity and the World Church" at the Black Catholic Theological Symposium's annual meeting at Bellarmine. Dr. Greg Hillis, associate professor of Theology, published an article entitled "The Holy Spirit and Prayer in Origen's On Prayer" in Cistercian Studies Quarterly. Dr. Hillis published two book reviews: of Geza Vermes' Christian Beginnings: From Nazareth to Nicaea in The Catholic Historical Review and of Anthony Briggman's Irenaeus of Lyons and the Theology of the Holy Spirit in The Journal of Ecclesiastical History.

Dr. Hillis presented "Augustine of Hippo and Cyril of Alexandria on the Filioque" at the Annual Meeting of the North American Patristic Society in Chicago in May 2013.

Dr. Elizabeth Hinson-Hasty, professor and chair of Theology, gave the George and Jean Edwards Lecture in Peacemaking on "The Problem of Wealth" at the Louisville Presbyterian Theological Seminary.

W. FIELDING RUBEL SCHOOL OF BUSINESS

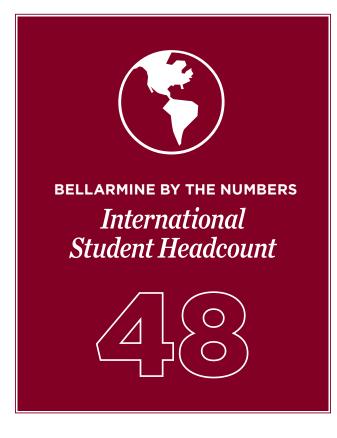

Dr. Daniel Bauer, dean, served on the St. Francis of Assisi School Principal Search Committee.

Ms. Pat Carver, instructor, serves on the Finance and Administration Committee for the Metro United Way and is a member of the Multicultural Ministries Board of the Archdiocese of Louisville.

Mr. Carl Hafele, instructor, received the 2014 Laurel Award from Sacred Heart Academy. The award, Sacred Heart's highest honor, is given to one individual each year to commemorate his or her dedication of years of time, talent and treasure. Mr. Hafele also serves on the board of Sacred Heart Schools.

Based on the significant work of Ms. Alisha Harper, assistant professor, and Bellarmine undergraduate accounting and MTAX students, Bellarmine University received the Collegiate Challenge Award from the Louisville Asset Building Coalition, given to the university with the most volunteers and volunteer hours during tax season.
